Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to amended claims 20, 23-26, new claims 27-41 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

2. Claims 20, 23-25, 27-30, 32-35, 37-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kashiwagi et al. (US 5,923,869) in view of Abe et al. (US 6,356,709).

Regarding claim 20, Kashiwagi discloses and meets the limitations associated with a method and associated apparatus for creating seamless presentation information of picture data in a record medium, comprising the steps of:

- a) recording picture data being received on the record medium by grouping the data into objects (Figs. 2, 20 and 24); and
- b) selectively creating the seamless presentation information (col. 43, line 35-, col. 44, line 12-, "target scene to be seamlessly connected to the preceding scene based on scenario data St7", col. 34, lines 24-64, "seamless Playback") for each object based on the type of picture data being recorded.

Regarding claim 20, 23, 32 and 37 Kashiwagi fails to disclose recording still images and therefore determining if the recorded picture is a still image.

Abe teaches a digital recorder that records high resolution still images during moving image capturing, using MPEG (Fig. 1, col. 3), wherein there exist no playback being a series of stills, therefore no seamless between them, as disclosed by Abe.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art at the time of the invention to modify Kashiwagi by incorporating means to record still images, allowing user to generate higher resolution still images with respect to the moving image capture, selectively generated scenes to preserve special times of received images deemed more important to users, as desired, as taught by Abe, also the still scenes can be used as a table of contents for the video material.

Regarding claims 23-24, Kashiwagi further meets the limitations of seamless information is included in the Navigation information pertaining to each object (Fig. 20, "NV", "DSI", "Seamless Playback {SML_PBI} and Angle Info for Seamless {SML_AGLI}"), which include Flags (such as shown in Fig. 20, also see related disclosure col. 21, line 30-, "seamless playback flag SPF", etc.....).

Regarding claim 25, Kashiwagi further meets the limitations of wherein the seamless presentation information includes at least one field of SCR or system clock reference or time data (see Fig. 19, "SCR file being a part of PKH", Fig. 20, wherein the "PKH", field having SCR field is part of NV, part of DSI), therefore, met and proven, in view of the combination of Figs. 19-20.

3. Claims 26, 31, 36, 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kashiwagi et al. (US 5,923,869) and Abe et al. (US 6,356,709), as applied and further in view of Okada et al. (US 6,181,870).

Regarding claims 26, 31, 36, 41, the combination with Kashiwagi further meets the limitations of wherein at least one field includes SCR, but, fails to disclose wherein the at least one field of the SCR comprised the last SCR of the former of two successive objects and the first SCR, of the latter of the two successive objects (see applicant disclosure Fig. 7 B).

Okada teaches at col. 42, lines 10-23, "first and last SCR of the former VOB and latter VOB, the seamless flag ... into the seamless linking information for the former VOB", as taught by Okada.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to modify the combination with Kashiwagi by incorporating first and last SCR values into the SCR field, being related to the former and latter respectively, of two successive objects, as taught by Okada, thereby providing more resolution of time information to utilize during reproduction operation as taught by Okada, as is deemed obvious to utilize known management structures in the same field of endeavor as is obvious to those skilled in the art.

Conclusion

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
